

News of the Day
April 14, 1958, Vol. 29-268

IT'S SPRING AND OH, WELL!

Spring fever brings a graceful entertainer from New Jersey's Palisades Park in search of adventure. But first, something for the inner elephant.

Then some water. This pachyderm you can lead to water, but you can't make her drink. She'll water ski, though, and likes the Hudson River just fine.

It took this circus star three years to achieve such savoir-faire - a sight to turn even the heads of jaded New Yorkers. The performance should answer a perennial question - what will they think of next? But then it's spring when an elephant skis the light fantastic.

64.