

At Long Island's Forest Hills, Richard "Pancho" Gonzales and Australia's little Ken Rosewall cross rackets in competition for the World Pro Tennis crown.

Gonzales serves from the far court. And now you're seeing tennis as the world's best experts play it. Rosewall's point.

Gonzales serving. And see how fiery Ken Rosewall handles the slashing attack of tall, rangy Pancho. Two well matched players fighting tooth and nail. Point for Gonzales.

Rosewall serves. Gonzales took the first set 19-17. Rosewall the second 5-7. With brilliant play they battle it out for the decision. Rosewall's point.

The terrific Gonzales power tells.

He burns in an ace.

Now, it's game, set and match point.

Rosewall drives it out and Gonzales is the victor winning two sets out of three - World Pro Tennis Champ.
