COURSE OF COOKERY FOR MEN

Length: 41 M.

Until recently a number of enthusiastic gentlemen was taught how to cook in a large kitchen in Heerlen (Limburg).

Every week another menu was on the programme.

During these classes women-experts trained them how to take over the task of the lady of the house in case of emergency or under other circumstances.

There was very much interest for the lessons and gentlemen with all kinds of professions devoted themselves to preparing a great variety of dishes.

The knowledge of recipes was discussed eagerly and often reached the "boiling-point".

More than ever the men learned to appreciate the woman, who seems to have innumerable hands, hands which are moreover "fire proof". At the end of each lesson the men were allowed to taste their own capacity.

During this course all kitchen perils were treated.

Most of them were new for the men, because their experience until this moment began and ended with the washing up.
