

KNOCK OUT IN 90 SECONDS!

From the left-hand corner comes Germany's Bubi Scholz, fighting Tuso Portugues, of Central America. A ten-round non-title contest. European Middle-weight champion, Scholz lands a power-packed right and it's evident he carries far too many guns for the latin-American champion. The German connects pretty well as he likes. Before the fight's gone two minutes, Scholz lands three heavy blows, and the fighter from over the ocean starts dreaming he's back there.

Angry fans say they've been cheated, but Portugues at any rate had had his money's worth; out to the world, deaf to the pandemonium.

It looks like the K.O. of all time. Portugues wants to make sure it's really over, and they're not just taking time out for injuries. Before taking on Scholz, the Central American wasn't in the running for any title outside his own territory. Believe it or not, he still isn't.
