

THE RIVER TEREK

94 - The Terek is a very swift mountain river. But Soviet people have long learned the track of changing river beds and make the face of the earth look anew. It took only a minute to change the fate of the Terek. This took place not far from the village of Pavlopedelak. Thousands of cubic meters of the bank's rock has barred the river's way. The Terek has a new channel now over the Terek - Kumsky canal which will make it possible to irrigate seven and a half million acres of land in North Caucasus.
