P.M. HOLE. SUMMIT SOON.

Very important patient at the Walter Reed hospital is American Secretary of State Foster Dulles. Recovering from his operation, Mr. Dulles acted as host there to the President, Prime Minister and Mr. Selwyn Lloyd. Under the benevolent gaze of one who no longer has to grapple with affairs the four men ranged the troubled world, the Middle East and Berlin especially. Britain and the States, seperated by 3,000 miles of Atlantic, see many questions from a different angle, which makes frequent discussion a necessity, if we are to act together. The Krcmlin would like nothing better than disagreement between the chief western partners. It's gratifying to learn that the talks were among the best they have ever had.
