

Another Cup Final at Wembley. This time, the Rugby League. That doughty team Wigan kicked off against Hull. Wigan in white shorts and heaped jerseys; Hull, dark shorts. Holden broke clear away for a perfect try for Wigan.

Hull narrowed the gap when Keegan kicked a penalty goal.

An attempted attack by Hull came to nothing. Wigan stand-off Dave Bolton passed to Michael Sullivan, and he was a mile too fast for Hull. Wigan were scoring their second try.

Hull had to do something now. They were eight points behind, and the game still in the early stage. But Wigan continued to dominate the play. Now it was Dave Bolton's turn to race for the line. Nobody could stop him.

Hull were awarded another penalty. Keegan scored again. At half-time, Wigan 20, Hull 4. Second half. The big contingent of Hull fans simply couldn't understand it. Their heroes were but a shadow of the magnificent side they've been all the season. Penalties were all that came their way so far.

Wigan 20, Hull 6. It could be Wembley nerves, but there's the old truth that no team can play better than their opponents let them. And Wigan weren't letting. Keegan could kick all the penalties he liked. It was still Wigan 20, Hull 8.

The ball ran well for Wigan. Match-hero Brian MacTigue gathered it. Another try.

Right wing three quarter Billy Boston scored yet another, to make it Wigan 28, Hull 8. And now at last, Hull went for the line. Scrum half Tom Finn touched down.

Finally Fred Griffiths kicked a penalty for Wigan. That was the final score, Wigan 30, Hull 13.
