

RIDE 'EM BOY, COWBOYS!

Salinas staged the youngsters' Rodeo. Steers and riders were a bit young in size and years, but with all the fire and spirit of the real thing. This young shaver stayed on as if he and his mount had been partners for years. Partnership dissolved!

Bout number two. Easy to guess the winner of this one. The title - brief encounter!

This young chap's mother wouldn't let him ride a bike, because she thought he might fall and hurt himself.

Every contestant's bound to bite the dust sooner or later, so the winner is the one that stays on the most seconds. And even when he's thrown at last he's loath to let go. A youngster with a man's size amount of courage. This Rodeo business is a pain in the tummy!!
