

IT'S EASY ON TWO WHEELS:

Stunt drivers gave a hair-raising show on the Champs Elysees. Even French taxi drivers thought it was going too far; the show was sponsored by the Road Security Organization. Just why; it's difficult to understand.

Top trick of the day was by Jean Sunny. He claims the world record distance on two wheels - somewhere around 500 yards.

To show how easy it is, Sunny did it again. It helps if the passenger's a yachtsman.

There's absolutely no difficulty in getting a car onto two wheels, but it's like flying, the hard part is to land, without going to hospital. Sunny just loves the climax.
