

COPYDOG!

In a Dutch village, Max the Alsatian watches his friend Dineke hula-keeping. All very well, but ever since Dineke caught the hula-bug she's had no time to play with Max - so there's only one thing for a self-respecting dog to do; show he doesn't care - impress the onlookers with his ability to amuse himself.

Max worked this out on his own, believe it or not, and he doesn't, for one - but it's true. He found the old bicycle wheel, ignored all the critics, and practised and practised till he got it right.

Talk about sticking your neck in it!