

NOW SHE'S MISS WORLD.

37 glorious lovelies from nearly every part of the globe were at the Lyceum to contest the supreme title, Miss World. 22-year-old Anne Thewell, of Cheshire is Miss United Kingdom. She eventually won fourth place. 36-24-37, and she's single.

Maria Elena Rossel is one of Peru's main attractions. And for the judges, what an evening. At this stage clearly, Miss Holland was a strong contender, with formidable opposition from Israel. 18-year-old Ziva Shomrat. She's in the army out there. Men volunteers are plentiful.

From America, Lorette Powell. Quite super, but unplaced.

The judges now had them down to a short list. From the bevy of beauties they gave the first award to the girl from Holland, Corina Rottschafer, a popular verdict, with both the onlookers and competitors. Corina is 21 and unmarried. She won't be for long, or I'm a Dutchman. You know, right now, I rather wish I were.
