

GHANA ACCLAIMS PREMIER.

History was made at Accra Airport when Mr. Macmillan accompanied by Lady Dorothy, arrived by Britannia airliner and became the first Premier in Office to visit Ghana. Dr. Nkrumah proceeded to present his colleagues and other notable people of the country, including British High Commissioner, A.W. Snelling.

The Independent State of Ghana is rapidly advancing to an importance in Africa out of all proportion to its size, thanks largely to the energy and ambition of the man whom all Africans in Ghana acknowledge as their leader, Premier Nkrumah. He talked to Mr. Macmillan of his dreams of a United Africa; also the more pressing question of big scale British investment in Ghana.
