

SHAH HOME FROM HONEYMOON - MACMILLAN'S TOUR -U.S.I.A. CHIEF PICKS RADIO WINNERS

Royal duties begin quickly for the Shah of Iran and his bride, Queen Farah, as they return to Teheran from their honeymoon. A gracious personality shines through, as the new 21-year-old Queen behaves with composure and quiet charm during a tour of Farabee Hospital. This is the first official function shared by the royal couple since their wedding last month. The hospital, which specialized in eye diseases, serves the poor south end of the Iranian capital. An important policy of the Shah has been to improve the lot of underprivileged people in this Middle Eastern nation.
