

60/13.WENDY JUST WALKS IT!

18-year-old Wendy Lewis was going great guns as she approached Penzance. Like Dr. Barbara she'd walked from John o' Groat's and now had a thousand miles behind her. So the Mayor and Council gave up trying to work, to give the Liverpool girl a big welcome. With her pace-maker friend, Wendy was in fine fettle.

Penzance wasn't the end of the walk, but it made a very nice rest. One of Dr. Barbara's objects was to prove that it could be done on a vegetarian diet. Wendy, off again now with another young pace-maker, was showing that she too could reach Lands End, after eating as much as she wanted of ordinary diet. And she made it. And there haven't been so many people at Lands End at this time of the year in living memory.

Wendy's never had so many admirers. She's been given a week's holiday in Cornwall, the gift of a local hotel, and her fare home by a Liverpool woman. Now, who's the next walker?
