

ON BEHALF OF: Courage and Barclay Ltd.

ADRIENNE CORRI TO REFEREE YARD-OF-ALE DRINKING CONTEST

Red-headed TV, film and stage star Adrienne Corri will referee a yard-of-ale drinking contest between teams of London University students and local challengers at the New Merlin's Cave (pub), Margery Street, London, W.C.1., at 7.30 p.m. on March 10th.

This will be a battle between student drinking champions who have survived rigorous preliminary heats held during the past few weeks at London University Students Union.

The student champs will be seconded by a multi-racial team of girl students.

The contest is being held to help promote interest in the university's carnival in aid of World Refugee Year.

Froth-blowers Footnote: A traditional glass yard-of-ale holds about three pints - and champion yard drinkers have downed this in 12 seconds!

8th March 1960

For further information, please contact: Iain Macdonald,
NOTLEY'S PUBLIC RELATIONS,
25 Hill Street,
Berkeley Square,
London, W.1.
Telephone: HYDe Park 4575

OR

Licensee of New Merlin's Cave, Mr Waite: TERminus 2097.