PREPARE FOR SHAMROCK DAY.

It comes from all over Ireland, the Shamrock that finds its way to the Dunmore East Packing Company, to be shipped to the United States and Canada, for St. Patrick's Day; and there are 900-thousand packets to be dried and got ready.

Do you know, there's over half a million Irish men, women and children in New York alone just waiting to "wet the shamrock", and if you give your imagination a bit of play, you can guess what that'll mean.

And when the packets arrive, it's a bit of Ireland herself the people will be getting. And on St. Patrick's Day there'll be a lump in their throats, when they turn their thoughts to the East and remember the grandest country in the world, Ireland...
