

LATEST OF "IDEA CARS"

Unveiled in Michigan, the Ex-Ner — a sleek roadster, waist-high, road-clinging and lean. Its streamlining features are off-center and concentrated around the driver; were it not for compensating airscoop and stabilizer the driver's head and shoulders would project into the wind on such a low car. The passenger's seat is four inches lower than the driver's, which would keep him below wind resistance level. The engine and chassis were made here, the body handbuilt in Italy. Strictly an "idea car", not designed for commercial production, although some of its features may show up on future stock models.
