QUEEN VISITS FLOWER SHOW.

Sir David Bowes Lyon, the Queen's uncle escorted her on her preview of the Chelsea Flower Show. He is President of the Royal Horticultural Society. In the giant 3-and-a-half-acre marquee orchids occupy nearly the whole of one side. Both inside and outside the marquee, the Show is the flower-lovers' paradise. The weather this year might have been specially ordered; it held back the spring blooms and has brought on those of early summer. Chelsea has never had it so good.

Chelsea is far and away the finest flower show in the world. The thousands who flock to the grounds of the Royal Hospital will have the loveliest memories of all that they see here.
