CHIMPS GO TO PARTY.

Maybe it's the biggest event of the London Social season; the favourite family of the Childrens Zoo holding their first tea party of the summer. Illustrating the latest scientific theory, that human beings are the nearest thing in Nature to the chimpansees.

Take some people out, and they go and put their foot in it. Come on, you little swab, get on with the meal. Nobody'd think they'd spent all the winter practising their party manners.

Given a fine summer, the daily party is going to be juvenile attraction Number One.
