JERSEY: BATTLE OF FLOWERS.

A riot of colour. In other words, the famous Jersey Battle of Flowers. Visiting Guest Personality Sterling Moss looked thoroughly at home with the lovely Miss Jersey Battle of Flowers, Carol Geary. Sterling doesn't like being a passenger normally, but this was a very special occasion. The Queen of the Channel Islands, for the tenth time, was holding the Carnival that's on a scale rivalling the great shows on the Riviera.

A grand floral tribute to "Hercules Unchanged", the tremendous epic now being enjoyed in Jersey, as well as Britain.

What a tremendous amount of work goes into the building of the superbly floral floats. Prizes totalling £2,000 are to be won. The Prix D'Honneur was awarded to TEMPLE OF DREAMS, entered by the parish of St. Brelade.

The second prize, the Prix D'Excellence, came from St. Helier itself. More than 50,000 holidaymakers saw the procession. All the floats prize winners along with the rest, eventually suffered the same fate - total destruction. They provided the ammunition for the Battle of Flowers, which everything so far had been leading up to.

This highly coloured combat makes a wonderful field on which to get to know your opponents. Thousands of folks now married first met at the Battle of Flowers. They're all living happily ever after - we hope. That's all for the Battle of Flowers till next Battle of Flowers. So it's farewell to Jersey. Wonder who cleared up the mess?
