NEWS IN FLASHES.

An exhibition of art, all the work of post office employees. You've probably never thought, when you've queued up for the weekly postal order that the quick and business like people behind the counter might be artistic. But how wrong you were. The proof? Well, the bust of Mr. Speaker Morrison, for example, is work of high order. Some contributions are by Postmen. You don't have to be a Picasso to have a shot at Modern Art.

If the morning's mail is half-an-hour late, it's worth it if the Post Office enriches the world of art. Also on view is work shedding light on the revival of English football.

Of great topical interest, Lady Chatterley and her lover - expurgated... The case for the Defence.

Ever wondered why so many pretty girls are employed by cinemas? If so, you won't be surprised to see the competition for Miss Cinema of Great Britain. The final was on Hallowe'en at the Lyceum Ballroom. Third prize went to 18-year-old Ellen Lloyd, a London girl. The first went to Nottingham, a city famous for its pretty girls. Italian star, Lili Battaglia made the award to lovely Glenys Bust. She won't be at home for a while yet, as part of the first prize is a holiday in Italy.
