DUKE'S BEST MAN WEDS.

At St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, almost a royal wedding, with five child bridesmaids and a page. The Marquess of Milford Haven married Miss Janet Bryce. Next arrival, the groom's uncle, Earl Mountbatten. He escorted his sister, Queen Louise of Sweden. It will be remembered that the Marquess was best man to Prince Philip. All eyes now on the bride. Miss Janet Bryce, 22, wore a gown of white ottoman silk, and a bouffant tulle veil. She was given away by her cousin. It was raining (one might almost say, of course) but a good sight of the lovely bride nevertheless rewarded the onlookers.

And here were the Marquess and his wife, radiantly happy, as the occasion ensured.

From Hampstead they went to the reception at Claridges. The honeymoon will be spent in Jamaica. The whole country wishes them all happiness.
