

VINTAGE CARS BRISK SALE.

Beaulieu, in Hampshire, is the place where the memory of old-time cars, justly famous in their day, is held dear, especially by the owner of Beaulieu Palace House, Lord Montagu. Curious about an old Humber was Janet Lamro.

Fords sold 15-million of the T-model till it made way for something modern. There was a Bentley, before their marriage to Rolls Royce. And they were all up for action, in the second annual sale of veteran and vintage cars. Buy one, and you may find yourself the owner of a secondhand vehicle likely to go up in price. Anyway to possess a vintage machine is quite the thing nowadays among the enthusiasts. And what memories some of the old timers can still evoke.

He certainly got a bargain there. One lot up for sale, very much older than the Bentley was withdrawn after an offer of nearly 14-hundred; a 19-hundred De Dion. But the driver managed to cope.. Ah!
