At St. Cyril's Church there was a mixture of joy and sadness. Jack Benny and wife, Mary Livingstone and a host of stars, including Marilyn Monroe, attended the christening of Clark Gable's baby. Clark's widow, Kay, brought her 10-week old son, which the great star himself did not live to see.

Gossip-writer Louella Parsons stood godmother. How tragic it is that Clark Gable, whose previous marriages brought him no children, died before his only son was born. Now, baby John Clark Gable carries on the name made world famous by the star known everywhere as the King of Hollywood.
