

61/69

BOATING'S SIMPLE

A top executive on vacation; a typical American scene at this time of the year. With his home-made boat, Cyrus arrives at the lake, to show those fish where they get out. Just a matter of unhooking the boat and getting afloat. Cyrus is mighty proud of that little craft; he modelled it on the bathtub, back home. That boat and his car, and he's got the freedom of the entire country.

Trouble with water - it ain't no respecter of persons.

Anybody got a light-!