

FIRST TENPIN COUNTY MATCH

Leytonstone saw history made in Tenpin Bowling, the sport which is catching on all over Britain. There was a county match between Essex - giving their woods all the polish they could take - and Warwickshire. A good coating of powder gives the bowler a sure grip on the wood flooring. Similar preparation by the Warwick team.

The skippers: Arnold Day (left) of Essex, and Bert Cobbold. They tossed for start. Bert won and lost no time getting into action for the Midlands side.

Now Day has a go.

Woods are in fresh supply automatically.

Jim Stear, for Essex; Films of crack American players have always made the game look simple. Evidently it isn't.

Tony Metcalfe sent up quite a good one for Warwick.

Mike Paviour, Essex. The names mean nothing to the public as yet. But who knows? Before long they may be in headlines.

Pete Wyatt, of Essex, making the last throw of the match.

Wyatt sent down a good one, so the fans saw the trophy presented to Arnold Day. County Tenpin was off to a promising start.
