

CROCODILES JOIN IN MIXED BATHING.

Only six miles away from the Majestic Victoria Falls is the town of Livingstone, where there's trouble over the Municipal Swimming bath. The Council decided that coloured folk can now bathe there. Formerly the bath was for white people only, and many of them now say they'll never go there again. They'd rather risk the crocodiles in the River Zambesi.

There've been no casualties so far. If you do meet one, look it straight in the eye. A crocodile's stomach can be very stuffy.
