

HOW BRAINY ARE CHIMPS?

The chimps at the Zoo simply must pass their 11-plus. So Sammy and Josie could no longer spend too much time mothering the keeper, who'll grow bald in the service, if he's not careful; it's high time they showed how much intelligence they've got. Hence the aim-tester, who throws them a grape if they score a direct hit. And if anybody thought the chimps wouldn't cotton on to the idea in a brace of shakes, he soon had another think coming. This is Josie, rarin' to go.

Atta girl.

So the chimps wouldn't catch cold, photographers inside wore masks.

Josie was drunk with success. So she did the Twist - chimp style.