

VERY HOT SPURS!

Danny Blanchflower lost the toss at White Hart Lane. Spurs versus Dukla, with 64,000 watching as the home-side kicked off. In white, the Tottenham stars matched the snow-white pitch. The ground was frozen and treacherous, yet it was Spurs who showed early signs of adapting themselves to the conditions, better than their opponents. White fired in a shot - it was parried, then Mackay banged the ball into the net. To the crowds amazement it was disallowed.

Blanchflower's free kick found Bobby Smith. This time it was a goal beyond doubt.

Dukla's turn to attack. The ball went to inside-left, Adams. Brown did well to save.

Now level on "aggregate", Spurs began to scent victory. White sent a perfect pass to Mackay - and just watch how he scored.

Half time, Spurs 2 - Dukla nil. But what a shock on the resumption: Jelinek pounced on the ball. Goal for Dukla.

Again the teams were level on aggregate.

Back in England-form at centre forward, Bobby Smith was in position to get his head to the ball - and scored.

Within sixty seconds, Spurs struck again. A shot by Mackay found the net.

Spurs now led this game, 4-1, on aggregate 4-Two. Barring bad luck they had put Dukla out of the European Cup. But in the visitors' goal, Kuba was safe.

Spurs had one anxious moment, but Brown just managed to save. Congratulations to Spurs, through to the semi-final in the European Cup.
