PEANUT FESTIVAL

Peanuts and peaches. That's how the people of Suffolk, Virginia, the place where they come from, announce the new crop. Here are two of the prettiest nuts. They can crack 'em or throw 'em. Five tons of nuts are used as ammunition at the opening festival. But here's the daddy of the lot, it stands six feet and weighs 52 pounds - what a nut. But of course there must be a Peanut Queen. This year's charmer is Olive Thorley, Virginia's Governor performs yet another state ceremony. He's not so nuts.
