

2-282-500
40/1

BARGE BALLOON BARRAGE.

To every new Nazi attack Britain soon has an answer.

Nowadays its Bubble mines..... dropped from German planes round our coasts. And today we are taking you aboard the barges to meet the men who are fighting this new menace.

They're members of the R.A.F. BALLOON COMMAND... But they look more like hardened salts. And they're being inspected by their commander, Air Vice Marshal Boyd.

From the Barges the Barrage Balloons head up towards the clouds. They're moored in the mouths of all our rivers and harbours. And they can be moved about to keep the enemy continually guessing as to their position. and they spell destruction to the low flying Nazi planes that swoop down to drop their mines.

So give a thought to the men out at sea..... who are helping to keep Britain safe.