SWEDEN ON THE DEFENSIVE.

The Swedish people kept out of the last war. This time they may have to fight for their liberty. But they're ready. Most of the regular army of about 50 thousand is guarding the Eastern Frontier. And now a hundred thousand reserves have been called in .....and are going into action for training in the field. Like the Finns... they know how to use the natural defences of their land... how to hide guns in the forests.....and make every one of their steep valleys a military stronghold. They have some of the best guns in the world... from the great Bofors Armament works Under cover of the northern mist they advance. They're only playing at war today...But already their weapons bark warning to aggressors.

Sweden has only about two hundred and fifty planes, and a thousand trained pilots.... no match for a major military power.

But plane for plane, superb design and mechanical perfection make them a tough foe.

And as they go up for sky manoeuvres.... they show us in one superb picture..... just what a modern air battle looks like.

The Fighters dive and fan out, to attack a squadron of slower moving bombers. Now watch .... as the bomber at the top is hit and goes down .... That's Sweden's answer if the God of War should look her way.
