Russo-Finnish War - Latest pictures.

As eye witness reports come back from Finland the defeat of the Russian 44th Division appears more and more as a superb feat of arms. The Russians were destroyed in fighting formation, by an army which they hardly ever saw. The Finns fought in little groups of twos and threes dodging among the trees..... hiding on a blanket of arctic snow.

These pictures show how quietly and smoothly they move.... across the white covered land. And just when the enemy least expect it.... comes the bark of the deadly fire.

A giant Russian thirty ton tank stopped in its tracks.... and then captured.

Russia seems to be more successful in her continued war on civilians. This is VIBORG after the latest raid.

And here is a point that may surprise you! Do you know the marking of Finland's war Planes? Here it is.

So while Germany remains the so called friend of Russia

Finland sends up her planes with a horizontal swastika... to fight off the red star of the Soviets.
