STILL THEY COME!

More and more Canadians are leaving their home-shores, to aid the Empire, in her fight against Nazi-ism and all it stands for.....

Here, for the first time, we see one of the earlier contingents, arriving at and preparing to sail from, a Dominion Port, for Europe.

If the Nazi leaders have any doubts, as to the Unity of the British Empire, these pictures would convince them - (if they could see them)..... These fine sons of the great Dominion, will be under the command of Major-General McNaughton, who recently arrived in France.

So its goodbye for the present, boys! We'll be seeing you!

WELLINGTON, NEWZEALAND.

And now, by the screens magic, we cross the world to see a grand parade of New Zealands young manhood More sons of Empire, who have answered the call of freedom, The Governor General takes the salute, as old Diggers of 1914 head the Parade, of the younger generation of fighters.

The New Zealand Expeditionary Force of 1940. The first contingent swings past, chins up, shoulders square, grand soldiers all. The youth of a free country.... offering themselves to keep it so. An ideal, that all the brute force in the world can never conquer.
