

BATH NIGHT IN FRANCE.

Its bath night behind the Maginot line. The Travelling washing tent has been put up... the students have lit the fires... and the water is hot. So if the ladies in the audience will kindly look the other way...we'll take you inside.

And if the ladies will continue to look the other way... we'll show you exactly how its done. But on second thoughts, there seems to be plenty of steam today. So maybe the ladies can look this way after all.

So this is how France watches over the comforts and health of her troops. Let the German's fight a dirty war if they want to... we're keeping it clean.