HORSE RACE IN ITALY

The Hippodrome Cantanella attracts the usual large and fashionable crowds for the Emperor's Cup. It's one of the principal events of the meeting and hat and hair seems to be just as important as horse and jockey, and the sun comes out to make everything in the garden lovelier. There are seven runners and they're all well fancied. It's a big honour to win the Emperor's Cup. Here they come and for a long run they are nicely bunched, it's anybody's race and anybody's money. Now they're beginning to thin out with three serious contenders for the Cup. Keep your eye on the horse nearest the camera, that's Bellini. Bellini takes the lead and stays there to win by three lengths.
