DUCHESS OF KENT WITH THE WOUNDED.

Belgian and French soldiers at present in this country, are among the wounded... happy to be visited by the Duchess of Kent. They're all so delighted to see her.... they express their feelings with a bouquet. One of the men who is badly wounded gets up when the Duchess approaches....but she immediately insists that he should sit down. This is the spirit of our Royal Family.... playing their part... spreading happiness with a smile .
