"RACING AS USUAL".

There's a big gathering of over 40,000 racing pigeons at Berriok. Many of the birds have been granted Government permission to take wing when the whistle blows.

Thousands of these birds are engaged on active service, and some have been known to drop a hint or two that they're about!

They certainly made a brave showing, but I've got a feeling that some of their country cousins have been feeding on the young greens in my garden.
