THE HOME GUARD.

The Local Defence Volunteers of a town in Cheshire, give a fine display of preparedness when they march to take part in Field Exercises and Drill.

A message of "Enemy Activity" is sent out, and its only a matter of seconds after it's received, before a despatch rider is off with it to Headquarters.

With all the precision of well-trained troops, these parachooters are assembled and ready for immediate action.

All over the country it's the same story. Over a million men are enlisted in the "Home Guard" and thousands more are eager to serve.
