IN STEP AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

To the New York World's Fair, march Midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy. Stepping out smartly, they attract a lot of attention. They're back from a summer cruise, so all their attention is focused on the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes, a line up of lovelies beating out a dance -routine with military precision.

They heard the show was good, so the Navy went to see. This must be what the middies call "Sea Legs."

And do the boys know how to lead the boys a dance! Yes, and do the lads know how to "join in the chorus"!!
