POLO FOR CHARITY IN U.S.

With all the atmosphere of an international match, America's all star polo team ride for charity at Westbury, Long Island. Their opponents, Boswick Field, headed by Pete Boswick, charge down to Meadowbrook territory where Pete drives one through the uprights for a count. The first gentleman of polo, Tommy Hitchcock as umpire, sees some dazzling play as Herby Jay, Boswick's number three, is ridden off by Jim Mills of Meadowbrook. Pete Boswick pokes it free in Meadowbrook ground and Mike Phipps rides in furiously to intercept the ball and scores a try for Meadowbrook. It's a rip rearing game with both teams tied at six-six at the final chukker. Out in the clear Bobby Gerry, Boswick's back takes a hard crack at the ball and starts a drive for the Meadowbrook goal. Following it up is Trevor Smith, the Texas ranch owner rams through his second score of the day and Boswick Field is out in front. It's an exhibition of top flight polo. And now Mills of Meadowbrook drives up for a final assault, but it goes astray and driving in like a furry in a hurry, Boswick gets his sixth goal. Seldom has Westbury seen a more fast moving game.
