

2-40/165

MUSIC IN TRAFALGAR SQUARE.

Nelson looks down on the Band of the Grenadier Guards playing stirring music in Trafalgar Square.

Lunch time Londoners gather in their hundreds in the shadow of the Column, and at nearby windows to enjoy a real musical tonic.

Military Bands always were popular, and now, having thoroughly enjoyed their return, London goes back to work asking for more. And even our messenger boy was only a couple of hours late.