CLARE HOME FROM ATLANTIC FLIGHT

The arrival back in England of the flying boat Clare, marks the completion of her noteworthy war-time flight to New York and back. Among his passengers Captain Kelly Rogers brings four American Air Pilots who have volunteered for service in this country. As a goodwill flight it's a winner.

In crossing the Atlantic in just over 12 hours, the Clare clipped an hour and a half off her schedule.

Further ~~xxxxxxx~~ convincing proof to the world that Britain is supreme in the air.
