GREAT FIRE IN U.S.A.

.....

Disaster strikes at Camden, New Jersey, when a huge chemical plant is laid waste by a devastating fire. All hell rages as walls, weakened by the blaze, and with a 40 mile an hour wind behind them, crash with thunderous roars into the streets below.

And here goes another !!

Five blocks of buildings are burned to the ground in this veritable inferno - look out below !!

A short distance away, heroic telephone girls stick to their switchboards to summon help, as the fire rages out of control. The suffocating heat takes toll of many fire-fighters as the temperature soars above the hundred mark. The heat wave is believed to have caused a can of naphtha to explode and bring about this two million dollar blaze. Over two hundred people are injured in the catastrophe. And now the fire-gutted skeleton crashes to complete the destruction.
