AT RISK OF THEIR LIVES!

A time bomb weighing a ton, the biggest dropped on London so far, falls near St. Paul's Cathedral, and buries itself in a 26 foot crater. And for three days, a party of men of the bomb disposal section, risk their lives to dig it clear. By their disregard of danger, the bomb is conveyed to Hackney Marshes, and blown up. The explosion makes a vast 100 ft crater. Simple facts in an episestory that typifies the high courage of men who defy Hitler's worst.
