

PATHE GAZETTE: 40/76. (DUBLIN REEL)

FOOTBALLERS KEEP FIT

The famous Giants football team of New York City have always known how to move, and how. And now they are moving with the times. They've adapted the 1940 method of keeping fit and they swop pig skins for rifles. Yes, they keep fit by keeping in step and they jump to it as lively as crickets, though their game is football. Wearing their natty crash helmets they look like the march of the wooden soldiers. The actual game also has been alightly altered to suit the new conditions and here's how the forwards attack 1940 style. Maybe the old game was best after all.