

2-07540/78

KING & QUEEN VISIT A BOMBED HOSPITAL

.....

Again the King and Queen give proof (if proof were necessary) of their interest in all that affects their people. Upon hearing that yet another London Hospital had been bombed, their Majesties visit the scene, to bring comfort and cheer to all those who have suffered from this all-too-frequent form of Nazi frightfulness. Fortunately, in this instance, the damage was not so severe as in other cases, but it is bad enough.

.....