BURMA ROAD BOMBED.

From their newly acquired base in French Indo-China, Japanese Naval planes take off, to bomb the recently re-opened Burma Road. They can now reach it in less than an hour's flying time.

Kunming, Capital of Yunnan, and Chinese terminal of the 715-mile lifeline, is also ~~selected~~ selected for bombardment. The Japanese raiders release their cargoes of destruction, in the hope of stemming the vast river of war material flowing to their stoic Chinese adversaries.

But still the steady stream of supplies goes on. In spite of all, the Burma Road Remains Open.
