

41/5 212100

WOMEN WAR WORKERS IN TRAINING.

At Government training centres all over the Country, women are being taught how to handle the machines which are turning out our armaments and munitions of war. More and more women are releasing men for the fighting services. And when it comes to welding, the girls prove that they can handle a blow torch as easily as a cigarette lighter. The girls can mend anything with an electric welder - except the ladders in their stockings.