

FIRE FIGHTING DEMONSTRATIONS FOR CIVILIANS.

Make every man and woman a fire fighter. That's the idea behind these demonstrations being held in various parts of London. An enthusiastic audience watch experts tackling incendiary bombs with stirrup pumps. Spray water on the bomb and use the jet only on burning objects. Pumping's simple if you take it easy. To smother an incendiary bomb with sand or earth, you do it like this.

Yers! Now watch how to enter a room when a bomb is burning indoors. Remember always to keep close to the floor when there's a lot of smoke about. To rescue anyone in trouble - here's how you do it.

Now, its the turn for the onlookers to join the ranks of the fire-fighters. Its a sensible education and they sign up willingly. Hand pumps are issued and they'll be off home soon to try it out in the back garden - if the pipes aren't frozen.

The civilian army is turning All hands to the Pumps.
